

exclaimer™ auto responder

Exclaimer Auto Responder VS Microsoft® Exchange

The table below highlights the advantages of using Exclaimer Auto Responder to manage your mail flow in addition to using the standard features of Microsoft® Exchange 2010.

	Exclaimer Auto Responder	Microsoft Exchange Server 2010
Able to generate a response message to an email	✓	✓
Control who the response appears to be from, including Active Directory field support	✓	✓
Control who replies to the response should be sent to, including Active Directory field support	✓	✗
Control who the response should be sent to, including Active Directory field support	✓	✗
Control subject line of response, including Active Directory field support	✓	✗
Attach files to the generated response	✓	✗
Rich response templates (make the response look like it was created in Outlook)	✓	✗
Automatic loop detection	✓	✗
Add specified recipients to emails in transit	✓	✗
Add sender's manager as recipient	✓	✗
Add recipient's manager as recipient	✓	✗
Add additional recipients using Active Directory fields from the sender/recipient	✓	✗
Redirect emails to a specific email address	✓	✗
Redirect emails to another recipient, including Active Directory field support	✓	✗
Modify message sender details, including Active Directory field support	✓	✗
Modify message reply-to details, including Active Directory field support	✓	✗
Modify only domain part of sender/recipient details	✓	✓
Add text to the beginning of the subject of emails	✓	✗
Add text to the beginning/end/completely replace subject, including Active Directory field support	✓	✓
Built in ability to add rotating banner ads	✓	✗
Use rule-based criteria to prevent specific emails from being delivered	✓	✓